LOWE HAS CHANCE WITH THE CHAMP

Pride of Local Fistic World Should Make Welsh Hustle in Thursday's Battle.

BOTH ABOUT SAME AGE

Local fight fans are gradually considering the fact that Tommy Lowe, the pride of the local pugilistic circle, has a chance with Freddy Welsh, the world's light-weight champion, in the ten-round battle of an all-star card to be put on by the Maryland Athletic and Social Club on Thursday night.

Although Lowe is considered by many local followers as a veteran and on the downward grade, he has shown recently in his fifteen and twenty round battles that he is still the master of the padded mitt game. In comparing Lowe's age and ring history with that of Welsh's, one finds very little difference in the age of the two battlers, while the champion had "rough diggings" for some five or six years before he climbed to the top of the heap.

Back in 1910 when Jim Jeffries, at that time world heavy-weight champion, was training for the memorial battle on July 4 with Jack Johnson, at Reno, Nev., Freddy Welsh numbered among the trainers at the champion's camp. Welsh at this time had been fighting for six years and had never figured very highly among the top-notchers. Shortly before he won the championship from Willie Ritchie in London
